

There is but one Religion

By Jerome Klotz

I

There is but one Religion
that sings eternally,
from the holy River Ganges
to the Sea of Galilee.

II

There is but one Religion
that calls her children home,
from the ancient sands of Egypt
to the mighty Alps of Rome.

III

There is but one Religion
the soul cannot forget,
from the sacred stone of Mecca
to the temples of Tibet.

IV

There is but one Religion,
that binds the heart of man,
from the hallowed Himalayas
to the gardens of Japan.

V

There is but one Religion,
a shelter from all storms.
Single is Her essence.
Many are Her forms.
